On [REDACTED] a military conference under the chairmanship of LIU Shao-ch'i held in a government office at the Chung Nan Hai (中南海), Peiping, was attended by three Soviet advisers, Chinese Communist military officers above the rank of military district commander, and various ministers. The following resolutions were made at the meeting:

- Fourteen hundred aircraft will be placed under the control and command of the headquarters of the International Volunteer Army (IVA), and will be used in surprise attacks against United States bases at Pusan, Okinawa, Taiwan, Japan and against the United States Seventh Fleet. The Chinese Communists are counting strongly on the surprise element in such attacks.
- If the new Communist ground offensive fails in Korea, the Communist forces will be withdrawn to the north side of the Yalu River, where they will take defensive positions. Semi-permanent defenseworks, including concrete block houses, will be constructed on the northern side of the Yalu.
- In addition to the equipping of one Chinese Communist army with Soviet arms, two armies under PING Te-huai will be similarly equipped.
